The grand finale event will culminate a competition between semi-finalists chosen from six in-person events across six different cities – San Jose, Calif., Detroit, Mich., Las Vegas, Nev., Nashville, Tenn., Denver, Colo., Richmond, Va., and one virtual event. The summer series gave hundreds of travel advisors across the country opportunities for learning, development and business growth. More than 1,000 plans were submitted during the series and a semi-finalist from each event will now compete for a $5,000 grand prize.

Carnival expects to host thousands of travel advisors in Houston at the grand finale event. Christine Duffy, Carnival’s president, will join John during the event to discuss tips for entrepreneurial success and John will also name the grand prize winner.

The virtual event, which took place on Aug. 5, is available for replay online, so that advisors who could not attend an event may still access the helpful business information shared during the series. To watch the virtual event, visit GoCCL.com.
