

Holland America Line Opens Bookings for Four 2025-2026 'Legendary Voyages' Including New 28-Day Cruise to Alaska and Hawaii

December 13, 2023

The cruises sail from North American homeports so guests can see the world without long-haul air

SEATTLE, Dec. 13, 2023 /PRNewswire/ -- Holland America Line opened bookings for four "Legendary Voyages" offered in 2025 and early 2026. Ranging from 28 to 56 days, these longer cruises touch three distinct regions and all sail roundtrip or from/to a North American homeport, making it easy for travelers to visit distant destinations around the world without a long flight.

A new "Glaciers & Volcanos: Alaska to Hawaii" Legendary Voyage heads to the 49th and 50th states, a rare combination in one cruise and two bucket-list destinations for travelers and "state collectors." Tales of the South Pacific and Hawaii, Tahiti & Marquesas deeply explore the islands of the South Pacific, while the popular Amazon Explorer returns to journey down the largest river in the world by volume (and second longest after the Nile River).

"Our Legendary Voyages have proven to be popular with our guests since launching this year, and we've worked to craft more of these longer itineraries as we plan 2026 and beyond to meet the demand," said Gus Antorcha, president, Holland America Line. "We're excited about the new 'Glaciers and Volcanos: Alaska to Hawaii' cruise that visits Alaska and Hawaii, two regions that are sought after but rarely offered together. And the chance to board a ship in New York City and explore the Amazon is a rare and legendary opportunity."
