P&O PRINCESS CONFIRMS DELIVERY DATES FOR DIAMOND PRINCESS AND SAPPHIRE PRINCESS

November 11, 2002

As previously reported, following the fire last month aboard
one of the two sister ships under construction in Nagasaki, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries ("MHI"), P&O Princess Cruises plc ("P&O Princess") confirmed their intention to continue with construction of the damaged vessel. The cruise program for the ship from its original scheduled delivery in June 2003 through to the end of February 2004 had been cancelled, pending a full assessment of the damage.

P&O Princess is pleased to report, following further discussions with MHI and completion of the damage assessment, that a revised delivery schedule for both ships can now be confirmed and that no further cruise programs will be cancelled. The delivery of the second ship has been brought forward by three months to February 2004. This ship will now be named Diamond Princess and will be deployed initially in the Mexican trade. The ship damaged in the fire will be rebuilt with delivery in May 2004. This ship will now be named Sapphire Princess and will enter service for the 2004 Alaska season, based in Seattle.

"Over the last several weeks we have worked very constructively with Mitsubishi to assess the damage and finalize arrangements that have enabled MHI to confirm to us the new delivery dates for these two ships" said Peter Ratcliffe, CEO of P&O Princess. "We appreciate the great efforts which have and continue to be made by MHI, their workforce and sub-contractors in achieving this new delivery schedule, thus allowing both ships to be available for the important 2004 summer season".

P&O Princess reconfirms that the company has in place contractual arrangements with the yard and insurance policies that it believes will be sufficient to ensure that there will be no significant economic impact on the Group or any adverse impact on its 2003 earnings as a result of the fire. Furthermore, given the revised delivery dates, the net effect on the Group's total capacity for 2004 will be a reduction of around 1%, so any impact on 2004 earnings is expected to be immaterial. Expected passenger cruise days for the Group for 2004 are now 15.5 million.
